WE NOMINATE

Charles Henry Rogers, one of this country's most distinguished "birdmen" and a pioneer in what has been termed America's "fastest-growing outdoor sport, bird-watching," who at age 75 shrugs off retirement and continues to add to man's knowledge of ornithology. In an era when such stark works as "Fail-Safe" and "Seven Days in May" top the listing of best-selling fiction, and harass the imaginations of book-club readers, the effervescent Rogers plumps for a return to the fundamentals of nature, contending that bird-watching is a "beautiful relaxation from the fast tempo of modern living."

Over the decades Rogers, Curator of the University's Museum of Zoology for the past 42 years, had made his profession his avocation and has used every possible opportunity, including his wedding trip to Africa and a walking-tour of the Himalayas, to find "just one more specimen" and to study the survival instincts of bird life. The lone survivor among the 27 enthusiasts who conducted the first Christmas Bird Count in Manhattan's Central Park in 1900, he has now participated in 63 consecutive Bird Censuses—the annual nationwide phenomenon which each year shortly after Christmas sends 1,000's of "watchers" into the woods and fields.

The Philadelphia-born Rogers, the individual to whom all New Jersey turns for assistance in identifying rare leathery species and often a lecturer in the Princeton Adult School, feels that only "nuclear war or financial bust" can halt the growth of the "great and revivifying experience" of birding. While the increase of leisure-time and the ready availability of hard cash for spending on hobby interests are factors in the development of bird-watching, it is Rogers' conviction that "better education of the great mass of people" has been the controlling element. People today, he points out, are far more interested in seeing and perceiving birdlife than engaging in the "senseless killing of birds."

An ideal day for Rogers would be a full 10 hours "in the field," starting at the screech of dawn. "I like to get an early start," he says, "walk through the woods all morning, sit on the ground for lunch, nap there on the ground after lunch, and don't mind the briar brambles or mud." As intrigued as he is with such Princeton rarities as the Bohemian Waxwing, the Golden Hawk and the Red-Bellied Woodpecker, Rogers even has kind words for the omnipresent starlings, the noisy and disorderly scourges of many Princeton neighborhoods. "The starlings do as much good as harm," he insists, "by living off bothersome and destructive forms of insects in our fields and woods."

A member of the Class of 1909 at Princeton, to whom he transferred upon completing his freshman year at Haverford College, Rogers recalls that as an undergraduate "I was considered to be almost a nut for watching birds instead of going to a ball game." For some years a member of the staff at the American Museum of Natural History, and an infantry veteran of World War I, he was called here in 1920 and established his headquarters on the third floor of Givoy Hall. Under his direction, the University's remarkable collection of stuffed birds has grown to the point that it now numbers more than 15,000 specimens, with Rogers constantly seeking additions through purchases, exchanges and often trading with other collectors on what he calls a "bird-to-bird basis."

For his unceasing quest for new knowledge of the "world around us"; for his devotion to a profession and "way of life" which have helped countless others develop satisfying and worthwhile hobby outlets; for understanding all Tennyson meant in writing, "Nothing in Nature is unbeautiful"; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee as

URGE CITIZEN ACTION
On Water Question. Four residents of Princeton appealed this week to their fellow citizens for support in request for the pending water company decision.

In two letters published in full below, these Princetonians ask their neighbors (1) to write the Public Utility Commission asking its members to withhold decision while Borough and Township make a study to determine what kind of water company ownership would be best, and (2) to write Borough Councilmen and Township Committee members asking that they appoint a joint citizens committee for the special purpose of making a "crash study" of water company ownership.

Meanwhile, Public Utility Commission members charged with deciding which way the water should flow, were scheduled to meet this Wednesday for discussion of the matter. The Commission has had in the several communications from Princeton. One is a telegram from Borough Council, another a wire from Township Mayor R. Kenneth Fairman, acting for Township Committee. A third is a letter from the Princeton Chamber of Commerce. All urge quick approval of the sale of controlling interest in the Princeton Water Company to the Elizabethtown Water Company.

Mayor Henry Patterson, who is executive vice-president of Elizabethtown, did not participate in the discussion that preceded the sending of Borough Council's telegram.

Did Officials Ask?

In his public letter of last week on the water company situation, Ricardo Mestres, University treasurer, said that no public official had ever asked him whether the University's stock in the Princeton Water Company was for sale.

On New Year's Day, 1961, Raymond F. Male, then mayor of Princeton, asked in his annual message that Princeton weigh the possibilities of acquiring ownership of the water company.

TOWN TOPICS learned this week that, although it is technically correct to say that no formal approach was made, several persons connected with the water company, with the University and with Borough Council itself, informed the mayor, following his address, that formal approach would be useless because the stock was not for sale.

"Councilmen said, in commenting on their position that they were not prejudging any study of public ownership of the water company; they believe only that the situation requires immediate action so that the company can proceed with improvements in the physical plant."

The Township telegram urged favorable consideration so that the proposed improvements announced last week by the water company can be finished by next summer.

Albert A. Austen, who resigned from Borough Council on January 1 because of the press of academic duties at Rutgers, asks in his letter for consideration of public ownership of the company, and suggests formation of a joint Borough-Township committee to study the problem.

H. P. Mink, Lester V. Chandler and Mrs. Harold Sprout also ask for the formation of a special Borough-Township water committee. Expressing concern about a possible conflict of interests on the part of Mayor Patterson, they also asked Borough Council to defer approval of the sale until this conflict can be resolved.

Mayor Patterson owns 560 shares of the 762,325 shares of Elizabethtown Water Company stock that are outstanding. He does not own any Princeton Water Company shares.

The Mink-Chandler-Sprout letter also charges the Princeton Water Company with failure to accept full share of responsibility to the public by allowing the present situation to develop.

Company Reports. At the annual meeting of the Princeton Water Company last week, George R. Griffing, vice-president, speaking for its directors, told the stockholders that the directors "have been continuously alert to the expanding needs of the community and have maintained excellent standards of service until the crisis of last spring."

Mr. Griffing was referring to the water shortage that developed last May during a sudden hot weekend.

His report also comments on the "taste and odor" of late 1961, traceable to a fissure in the care of Well No. 3 in the Harrison Street field. Mr. Griffing says that the removal of this well from the system caused a loss of supply that probably contributed to the May dry spell.

He says that this well is still out of service, as is Well No. 6, which adjusts it, causing an even greater loss of supply.

In 1957, there was a statewide drop in the level of the potable water table. Mr. Griffing continues, and when this was discovered, the company began to investigate the possibility of new well sites and the use of water from the Delaware and Raritan Canal.

A new filter plant at the Stony Brook Station, placed in operation in 1961, increased the supply by one million gallons daily. Mr. Griffing reports The company is now using a canal water, and has found

Round-Up

Hearings began Monday in Trenton on the two suits involving the Nassau Broadcasting Co., which has been seeking since last April to open station WJWL in this area. The plaintiffs are residents of near-by Hopewell Township and the municipality is expected to locate its transmitters and studio.

Residents of the area have taken to Superior Court the question of the company's right to alter the nature of the area by installation of six towers with flashing red lights and the municipality is battling the company, headed by Herbert W. Hobler, over all the building plans when the latter were revoked to include a studio in the Mount Pleasant area, the building permit was revoked, and construction has been halted for the past nine months.

The ice on Carnegie is safe. John F. Petrone, winter recreation supervisor reports, and is thick enough so that it will remain that way for some weeks barring an unseasonal thaw. In addition to the flags at Nassau and Witherspoon and on the Kingston Road indicating good skating, a third is now flying at Nassau and Harrison.

Dog owners have until January 31 to renew the licenses for their pets. In applying at Borough or Township Halls, proof of inoculation within the past six months must be furnished.

Borough police have solved the recent looting of cars parked in yards near Palmer Square. Two teenagers were caught by a member of the force stationed in the area and will come before Juvvenile Referee Howard W. Stepp. A similar effort to nab the character who has been slashing the roof of convertibles has not yet met with success.

More vandalism in windows deliberately broken. A $60-inch pane in a storm door and a $35-foot show window at the Juvtown Delicatessen, reported to police by owner Samuel Lisi.

Theft. A four-foot potted rhododendron carted away from in front of the entrance to the Annex Grill. A white-wal tire and wheel removed from a car owned by Charles Baynard of Dutch Neck while it was in the Princeton Hospital parking yard. The thieves left the jack used in the hijacking.

Additional contributions to the TOWN TOPICS Christmas Fund have raised the total received to $3,582.80. The money will provide year-round assistance in some form to scores of Princeton children.

The Atlantic Refining Company has postponed its plan to install a gas station at Nassau Street and Markham Road. The application for a zoning variance was not filed in time for this Thursday's meeting. A member of the Engineer's office said the Borough Zoning Board has received a letter from the company attorney, informing it of the delay. Last week's "heat wave" was marked by daily temperature readings well up in the 40s and starting Friday, by three days of fog and rain. Precipitation totalled better than six-tenths of an inch, and would have been almost seven inches of snow had the thermometer dipped another ten degrees.

new well site, location undisclosed.

Referring to rates, the report the stockholders say that the Princeton Water Company's basic charge has increased 55 percent since 1920. The director compares this with a 200 percent increase in the overall Borough tax rate since 1920.

The text of the letters: To the Editor of Town Topics: From the discussion before Borough Council on January 8th of the proposed transfer of the Princeton Water Company to the Elizabethtown Water Company we believe three points clearly emerge.

1) The inadequacy of water distribution has been known and felt by every resident of Princeton for several years. It seems apparent that by allowing this situation to develop, owners of the company failed to accept their full share of responsibility to the public. We believe they can demonstrate responsibility now, not by advocating immediate action regardless of its effect on the community, but by requiring considered judgment in this matter. We therefore respectfully request the majority stockholders, Princeton University and Princeton Theological Seminary, to ask the Board of Public Commissioners to defer approval of their stock transfer until the two following steps have been taken.

2) By vacating the chair during the discussion before Borough Council, Mayor Patterson officially recognized his own personal conflict of interests. Besides being Mayor of the Borough, he is Executive Vice-President of the Elizabethtown Water Company. In addition, he owns 500 shares of Elizabethtown Water Company stock. No one would think this conflict of interests would decrease if the proposed transfer were accomplished. On the contrary, it would increase.

We believe that with the most honorable intentions, Mr. Patterson cannot serve Princeton by striving for efficient services and low rates, and at the same time serve his company and himself by striving for largest profits. We therefore respectfully request Borough Council to defer approval of the transfer until the mayor's conflict of interests is terminated.

3) This is an urgent matter, for the adequacy and quality of our water supply in coming months are at stake. We believe that the welfare of the community cannot benefit from Borough Council's decision to refer it to a long-range Borough-Township committee for study, with no assurance the transfer will be delayed until its report is in.

We therefore respectfully request Borough Council and the Township Committee to appoint at once a joint citizens committee charged to report back within one month. We submit that the mission of this committee must be to decide on a cost and service basis if the welfare of Princeton will be most wisely served by transfer of the Princeton Water Company to some form of municipal ownership, to the Elizabethtown Water Company, or to some other water company.

This matter affects every citizen of Princeton. It is up to us to see that the our voice is heard and our interests protected. We therefore urge every citizen to write or phone Borough Council or the Township Committee. All you have to say is whether you approve or disapprove of the action suggested in this letter. But do it. Make your opinion heard.

To the Editor of Town Topics: The recent developments in connection with the proposed sale of the Princeton Water Company to the Elizabethtown Water Company have brought to light the need for improvement in water supply to our community. Something, indeed, must be done about this situation.

However, it is my conviction that before any action is taken in the matter of transfer of controlling interest from the present major stockholders to

MAKING PLANS FOR SACRED HEART SCHOOL: Robert E. Clancy, newly-appointed chairman of the Special Gifts Committee for the Stuart Country Day School of the Sacred Heart, reviews plans with Mrs. Clancy and with the Reverend Mother Agnes M. ### PR STATION TO MOVE

If Proposal is Accepted, The Pennsylvania Railroad station may move again. It was relocated shortly after World War I from Blair Arch on the Princeton campus to the foot of University Place—a distance of about 1,800 feet. The University now proposes to move the station 2,000 feet farther down the line. The railroad has no objection.

Extension of University Place to Faculty Road and landscaped parking lot at the new site, which is just south of Faculty Road, are also included in the University's package proposal.

The suggestions were set forth Tuesday night at an informal meeting at the Princeton Inn with the mayors and various other municipal officials of Borough and Township. President Robert F. Goheen told the group, "We are not seeking decisions tonight. What we are trying to do from the University's standpoint is to examine the possibilities... to identify the problems."

Edgar M. Gemmell, university vice-president, said that "our present intention is to develop a private loop road serving the planned seven-story administration building, Baker Rink, the service building and linking with Faculty Road." But, he added, "if the community approves of the extension of University Place, we offer to contribute the cost of this private road to the extension. Our thought is to offer the township about two acres for the parking lot."

Railroad Agrees. George Vaughan, regional manager of the Pennsylvania Railroad, said that the "total tax we pay in the Borough is $3,100, and practically 45 percent of this is on the passenger station. We feel we can provide the same services from a station located on Faculty Road.

"We'd like to retain the tracks that serve the freight operations. We need only a modest building—a ticket office, waiting room, an umbrella canopy and a platform no more than five car lengths." He suggested that the municipality run the parking lot "and we'll run the trains."

He told Township Mayor R. Kenneth Fairman that about one freight train a day uses the spur. "About 500 people use the station daily, another 600 use the Junction."

Mr. Gemmell said that the problem of tax loss to the Borough belonged rightfully with a complete review of University-Borough payments and agreements. President Goheen suggested, "I would like the Borough to sit down with us and consider the whole series of little ad hoc arrangements which have developed over the years."

Asked about the effect upon the undergraduates, Mr. Gemmell commented, "They will be dismayed, just as they were 40 years ago. But an astonishing number of them use the buses. I can balance the unhappiness of the undergraduates with the happiness of the taxi-drivers."

1964 Deadline. University officials informed the group that construction of its new dormitories on College Road would begin this spring. Upon their completion in the late summer of 1964, College Road would be closed to public traffic. "If by that time, the railroad station and parking were available, it seems that the convenience of the public will be well served."

Mayor Henry S. Patterson of the Borough urged prompt action upon the joint planning boards' study proposed by Mayor Fairman. The University was requested to supply detailed plans and to convene the planning boards by January 28 for preliminary study.

CHAIRMAN NAMED

For Stuart School Committee. Robert E. Clancy, 6 Newlin Road, has been appointed chairman of the Special Gifts Committee for the Stuart Country Day School of the Sacred Heart, now being constructed on a 35-acre Great Road site.

Committee members serving with Mr. Clancy will be Frank Caplan, Lowell F. Curran, Jr., Michael F. Lamorts, John J. Louchin, James J. McNamara, Dudley Clark, Jr., Eugene A. Jacob, Jr., James W. Little, Jr.

the Elizabethtown Water Company, thought should be given to the advantages of transferring the control and operation of our municipal water facilities to public ownership. Both the quality and cost of operation are important factors in such a service and in the interest of the public, the cost of service particularly under both public and private ownership should be reviewed before a final decision is made.

I, therefore, suggest that the Public Service Commission which is now considering this matter be urged to withhold decision in order to give a joint Borough and Township Committee the opportunity to make the study which is necessary in order to determine which form of ownership will be in the best public interest from the points of view of both quality and cost of service and that no action be taken until the facts revealed by such a study are known and evaluated through public discussion.

I urge all citizens who realize the importance of this matter to write to the Board of Public Commissioners, 1100 Raymond Blvd., Newark, New Jersey, and to local public officials to express their views on this matter.

Short Thought

You gotta be hold
To like the cold.

—SIS E. WALKER

If only boldness can beat the coldness, it will require winter-long, courage. Last week's brief mild spell fled in front of the North Wind. And its flight was so great that it isn't due to return for quite a spell.

If it will be cold, it also will be generally fair, the Man reports. For the time being, the traditional white stuff will continue to fall north and west of here.

Borough which had violated the ordinance. Thomas J. Hinchey, assistant Borough engineer, said:

The zoning ordinance allows, on windows, only signs bearing the name of the store and the kind of business, and these signs must not exceed six square feet. Mr. Hinchey said:

Gas stations and used cars are the only exceptions to the ordinance, because free-standing signs, letters on pumps and the like, are considered "customary and necessary" to the business.

The letters sent out this week are a first, polite step. Mr. Cawley said that no formal complaints would be filed unless the store owners failed to comply. The maximum penalty is a fine of $100 per day, or 30 days in jail for each 24 hours the ordinance is violated.

"It's an almost impossible ordinance to enforce," Mr. Cawley commented. We'd have to hire a full-time man to tour the town every day, and we've got more important things to do."

PLANS RECEIVED

For Hillside Sewer. Preliminary plans for the Hillside sewer have been received from Buck, Seifert and Jost and Township engineers are now reviewing them.

The engineers will recommend several changes — running the sewer line down the side of a road rather than down the middle, and so on, and the consulting firm will produce its final drawings after these recommendations have been incorporated.

The Hillside sewer ordinance was passed by Township Committee in anticipation of these final engineering plans. At next Monday night's Township Committee meeting, there will be two hearings on assessment reports, one on the reconstruction of Overbrook Drive and the other on the Guilick Road-Shady Brook sewer. Committee will also introduce an ordinance accepting a portion of Leabrook Lane.

ASIA—AND SPACE.
Both at Adult School. As a companion lecture series to "Way Out in Space," the Princeton Adult School will offer in its winter curriculum "Asia Today and Tomorrow," an analysis of change in India, Japan and Pakistan by four experts who have lived in these countries.

For the complete Adult School winter curriculum, see pages 20-21 of this week's TOWN TOPICS.

Lecturers in the Asia series will be William W. Lockwood, professor of politics and international affairs at Princeton; Maria B. Jansen, professor of history at Princeton; Norman J. Palmer, professor of political science and a member of the South Asia Regional Studies department at the University of Pennsylvania; and Frederick C. Shorter, assistant professor of economics at Princeton.

In addition, the Adult School will offer a class in Speech Improvement by William Brower of Princeton Theological Seminary; a class in Masterpieces of Russian Literature conducted by Mita Turkovich of the Douglass College faculty; a class in beginning tennis by William Humes of Princeton High School and a course in physical fitness for women, to be given by Mrs. Arden Zinn.

Theatre's spring repertory series. Subscribers are asked to place orders now, and to obtain information on prices by calling the theatre box-office (WA 1-8700).

Scales for subscribers are available on Thursday, Friday or Saturday evenings and now this year — on Sunday afternoons. All subscribers to the series receive a bonus membership in the spring Classic Film Club, whose offerings are selected from the library of the Museum of Modern Art.

The four plays chosen for spring viewing are "Julius Caesar," Lope de Vega's "Fuente Ovejuna," Brecht's "Gallileo" and the Moliers "Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme."

For the film series, McCarter has lined up five Mack Sennett comedies, Marlene Dietrich in "Desire," a silent film with Buster Keaton called "The General," a Swedish masterpiece of children and animal life, "The Great Adventure," and "Crash Fire" with Robert Ryan and Robert Mitchum.

The series of plays will begin on Thursday, February 21.

pany that will appear in McCarter on Friday, January 23, for the special performance planned as a gala benefit to establish a Princeton Regional Ballet.

The offerings will be "Miss Julie," "Theme and Variations" by George Balanchine with music from Tschalkowsky's Suite Number Three, the pas de deux from "Don Quixote" and "Les Patineurs."

"Miss Julie," choreographed from the Strindberg play, is a new work which has already achieved a wide following in Europe, but has not been programmed often in this country. Its star in the McCarter performance will be the Scandinavian ballerina, Toni Landem. In the "Don Quixote" pas de deux, dance lovers will have an opportunity to see two of the Ballet Theatre's finest dancers, Lupe Serrano and her partner, Hoyes Fernandez.

"Les Patineurs" is a sparkling skating party, danced to the music of Meyerbeer. Choreography is by Frederick Ashton and costumes by Cecil Beaton.

A Princeton Regional Ballet would provide a professional workshop where young dancers could train, perform and learn the repertoire of contemporary and classic ballet. The area included in the group would extend as far as New Brunswick and Trenton, according to dis-sponsors, the Princeton Ballet Society.

PRINCE and PLAYHOUSE

Taras Bulba (now playing) is a big, colorful pageant of 16th Century Cossacks. There are clashes of splendidly mounted men, a siege at a fortified town and daring feats of horsemanship.

Yul Brynner plays the title role of the Cossack chief, a victim of Polish treachery who has pledged his life to vengeance. Tony Curtis is the more aggressive of his two sons, who makes the fatal error of falling in love with a beautiful Polish girl, played by Christine Kaufmann.

There are moments of high excitement as the washabuckling Cossacks, superbly at home in the saddle, roam the steppes in search of battle, or loot, or freedom from the Poles. There are also scenes of almost sadistic cruelty and inhuman punishment. The movie, filmed on the vast plains of Argentina, which resemble the steppes of the Ukraine, is based on the book by Nikolai Gogol. Comment: a rough and hardy lot.

GARDEN

A Game for Six Lovers (now playing) is more French spice, with three young couples switching beds. There is also a girl-chasing butler who has his moments as the story unfolds in a baroque French chateau. There are in fact,

Don't Know How Much to Deduct?

Are you one of those unfortunate taxpayers who never knows how much to deduct for drug purchases?

You can relax.
DrugTax can help you, and it isn't going to cost you a penny.

DrugTax is the new record-keeping system now available at our pharmacy. With it, we keep a complete record of your drug purchases. And at the end of the year we send you a DrugTax statement which tells you how much may be deductible in computing your federal tax return.

Simple? Of course—and it can save you money!

By making all of your drug purchases at our store, you will be guaranteeing yourself an annual tax record. Those "little" purchases (which can add up to big ones) won't be forgotten.

We think you'll be pleasantly surprised at how many items are deductible. It could mean tax savings for you.

Come in today and let us tell you more about DrugTax. Remember, it's free.

GOLFING IN BERMUDA?

No. We Prefer Slacks. They are severe about the golf trousers at Maurice Pearce's establishment. These are not just slacks you put on any old time, even when you are going to play golf. They are JUST for golf, designed with tricky nance pockets for feet. A tish to hold your handkerchief after you mop your brow—things like that.

They are darcen and cotton and washable, and we found them in a delectable coral, a dusty salmon, gold and red. Mr. Pearce can order them for you in blue, olive, sage, black, tan—whatever.

Spring's Madras ties from England are largely blue and greens with fewer wines and tans than in previous years. There are Madras ties, too, dark baltics in purples and browns that look like stained glass.

We liked a white shirt with complex paisley medallions framed in the squares made by floral stripes. A brown and gold abstract print looked promising, too.

Those who remain in the horse latitudes this winter will keep warm in a suede vest from Dents of London. This is real leather, you know. In a good solid piece we can only describe as "tan" with a knit wool back to keep the breezes in their place. $28.30.

Another country garment for winter is a corduroy slack in a wider wale than you usually see. Mr. Pearce stocks it in what he calls "natural," but what we would describe as brownish taupe, and in olive, at $18.95.

A sweater to alternate with that vest might be the Tatters that vest might be the long-sleeved lambswool with Y neck and full fashioning. Comes in powder blue, deep lemony gold and maroon. Another vest might be the Tattersall one in a pale gold which Pearce calls "lemon." We think it's a gold-bie. You see for yourself. It has staghorn buttons—the real kind—and the air of a timeless classic. $18.95.

Ties in this shop come from Scotland, where they have been knit on the finest needles (vertical knit) in wine, powder blue, navy, rust, jade and so on; or from England, where they have been fashioned of Jacquard silk in reticent patterns describing eagles on dull gold, red devils on navy and the like.

We mentioned the samples of wool tartan which Mr. Pearce has on hand. They can be ordered for any purpose your heart desires short of dish-towel. Ladies' or d'r lengths for skirts or kilts. Men order enough for vest or jacket (or kilt!). The weight is light enough to be tolerable in steam-heated Princeton.

Heavier weights in tartans can be ordered for steamer robes or blankets. In fact, the shop can order just about anything you want, including a full paraphernalia for riding. A couple of lodphurs are available at the moment, but you just say what you want and it will be available, too.

Maurice Pearce's shop is in the Thompson building at 195 Nassau at the junction of Nassau and Moore.

JUNIOR PAPERBACKS

For Small Allowances. Scholastic Book Services has begun sending to Male's Book Shop its collection of modestly priced paperback books for young people, marked attractively from 25 cents and 35 cents to 50 cents and $1.50.

The range of titles is infinite. We found Jim Kjelgaard's classic "Outlaw Red," the wonderful dog story, and Pearl Buck's "Big Wave," besides an incredible number of books about basketball, dinosaurs and puzzles.

The $1.50 books consist of a series on Army, Navy and Air Force whose volumes outline the military way of life in a comprehensive way for puzzled teen-agers about to face the draft.

McSmith?

Aslanders who think that Scotland is composed of Highlanders and Lowlanders and MacTavishes and Black Watches will be fascinated by a bit we picked up during a Highland trip at Maurice Pearce's shop.

Mr. P. was showing us through his swatches while we tried to decide whether to have a Cameron kilt or a Hunting Galloway.

Suddenly, as he flipped over the squares, we saw one marked "Smith." Indeed it is true, Mr. Pearce said, there is a Smith tartan, of all things. It is navy and red, and more colorful than Black Watch, with a narrow yellow and red stripe.

(Notice we did not say "a yellow streak.")

Girls may choose Rosamund du Jardin's testimonials about adolescent life or "Candy Strippers," about life in a hospital or any one of thousands of horie stories.

We like the manual called "Easy Cooking: Let's Cook Without Cooking" and the one for the very littlest called "Curious George."

Male's is obsessed with the idea of getting kids to read, and has therefore put up a rack with a sign saying "Kids Love These." These turn out to be things like "Proulx in Courage" by—shucks, we've forgotten his name; or Agnes de Mille's "To a Young Explorer" or "At Home in India" written by Cynthia Bowles when her father was ambassador there.

Colliers has a 65 cents "HS" series of classic titles like Louisa May Alcott's various productions, "The Prince and the Pauper," "King Solomon's Mines" and the like. Male's displays with these the collections of poets like Robert Frost, Edna St. Vincent Millay and Edgar Lee Masters. (Do girls still go through a stage of sighing over Edna St. Vincent Millay?)

Of course, there are boys.

MUSIC In Princeton

PIANIST TO PLAY

In Series II Concert, Gina Bachauer, the eminent Greek pianist, will appear in recital Monday at 8:30 in McCarter Theatre in the third concert of Series II of the Princeton University Concerts.

Miss Bachauer made her Town Hall debut in 1930, having appeared professionally for the first time in 1933 with Dmitri Mitropoulos and the Athens Symphony Orchestra. During the war, she was stranded in Cairo and although she played for troops all over the Near East, she was almost an unknown when she gave her first concert in London after the war.

Since that time, she has received high critical praise from critics in cities as far apart as San Francisco, Athens, London and Cape Town.

In Princeton, Miss Bachauer will play Bach's Toccata, Aria and Fugue in C Major, BWV 564, arranged by Busoni; Haydn's Sonata No. 34 in E Minor and Beethoven's Sonata No. 21 in C Major, Opus 53 "Waldstein". Following the intermission she will offer the Chopin Fantasia in F Minor, Opus 49; Bartok's Suite, Opus 14 and Ravel's "Gaspard de la Nuit".

Tickets are on sale at the University Store. Fifty standing room tickets at $1.50 will be sold at 7:30 p.m. the evening of the performance at the McCarter box office.

Gina Bachauer

RAMBLERS TO PLAY
Folk Music At Murray-Dodge. The New Lost City Ramblers will perform at Murray-Dodge Theatre on Saturday at 8:30 in an evening of folk music.

Formed as a professional group in 1938, the Ramblers consist of Mike Seeger, John Cohen and Tracy Schwartz. Known through its Folkways Records releases, the group includes renditions of early forms of breakdowns, rag, blues and ballads in its repertoire.

Using instruments such as the guitar, banjo, fiddle and autoharp, the Ramblers recreate the sound of old-time mountain bands. The singers have gathered their material from recordings made during the late 1920s and early 30s. Tickets for the performance, which is sponsored by the Theatre Intime, are $2.

TO SING BRITTEN WORK

In McCarter, "The Turn of the Screw," Benjamin Britten's opera based upon Henry James' chilling story of haunted children, will be sung in McCarter Theatre on February 7 at 8:30 by the New York City Opera Company cast.

Patricia Neway will star as the governess who struggles to save the children in her charge from ghostly and evil powers. Miss Neway was acclaimed for her interpretation of this role when she sang it last spring with the New York City Opera Company.

Two young singers, Bruce Zander and Michele Parr, will portray the children, Miles and Flora. Much of the success of the opera depends on these youngsters who must convey, in their singing and acting, a combination of innocence and evil.

CONCERT PLANNED

By Graduate Choir. The Graduate Choir of Westminster Choir College will present a program on Monday at 8 p.m. in the College Chapel. Included in the concert will be Sessions' "Mass" for unison choir; Buxtehude's "Aperite Mibi Portas" and Stravinsky's "Mass." James Waters will be the organist and will be assisted by Joseph Kovacs and Jean St. Clair, violinists.

Composed of graduate students majoring in conducting, the choir is supervised by Warren Martin, musical director at Westminster. The program is open to the public without charge.

STESSIN RECITAL SET

MASSELOS TO PLAY

Grieg Concerto Set. William Masselos, resident of Princeton for the past eight years and performing pianist for 38 of his 42 years, will appear as soloist in the Grieg Piano Concerto when the Princeton Symphony Orchestra plays in McCarter Theatre on January 28.

Known as a champion of contemporary music, Mr. Masselos is equally at home with the classic and romantic composers. The music department of the New York Times has hailed him as "one of the greatest American pianists" and the New York Herald Tribune has spoken of his performances of the classic literature as "superb and full of romantic bigness." The same paper has referred to him as a "virtuoso technician, a musician of sensibility and style."

The pianist has performed the premiere offerings of such compositions as Charles Ives' "First Piano Sonata, Aaron Copland's Piano Fantasy and most of the major keyboard music of Ben Weber.

With the New York Philharmonic under Leonard Bernstein, Mr. Masselos introduced Weber's Piano Concerto (Opus 52), a work which he had commenced in connection with a Ford Foundation grant to encourage and recognize proven talent.

Tickets for the Princeton Symphony Orchestra concert are on sale at the University Store and will be available at McCarter the evening of the concert.

CHOIR TO PERFORM

Bernstein Will Conduct. The Symphony Choir of Westminster Choir College will give four performances with the New York Philharmonic Thursday through Sunday, January 24 through 27, in New York's Lincoln Center. Leonard Bernstein will conduct the presentations of Janacek's "Slovak Mass."

Directed by Dr. Elaine Brown, the choir will record the performance with the New York Philharmonic for Columbia Records. In addition to Mr. Bernstein, the choir has sung under such conductors as Herbert Von Karajan, Eugene Ormandy and Leopold Stokowski in its 200 performances since 1936.

Kind Hearts and Coronets and Tight Little Island (now playing). Two classic British comedies. "Kind Hearts" is a low-de-force by Alec Guinness, in which he plays ten members of the same family. All are methodically and cleverly murdered by Dennis Price.
"Island" concerns a shipload of Scotch whisky washed up on the shore of a poverty-stricken, remote British island. The struggle of the islanders to turn the whiskey over to its rightful owners is not the subject of this at all. Comment: two very funny films.

Hook & Ladder is 175. The Princeton Hook and Ladder Company, founded in 1788, the oldest fire company in the Borough and one of the oldest in the state, will celebrate its 175th anniversary this year with a series of events throughout 1963.

Next month, an Old Timers' night has been planned, with all former members invited to attend a program in their honor. The annual ladies' night will be held in June, and an open house will be held in addition to the annual parade and inspection by the Mayor and Council.

Following a target shoot in July, there will be an anniversary dinner and dance September 14. Wilbur F. Kerr, Sr., an active member of Hook and Ladder, will give a brief history of the organization at the dinner. A second open house has also been planned and will be held September 8.

The year-long program will be under the chairmanship of James Pace, former chief of the Princeton Fire Department. He will be assisted by Carl C. Schafer, William Palmer and Albert Wert, invitations and receptions; Mr. Kerr, history; Douglas Watson, Ralph Hult and Alex Dutrie, publicity; Vincent Sassman, Albert Wright and A. M. ### Fed a Meter Late?

Having noted "with regret" that car owners in Princeton practice meter feeding, the Chamber of Commerce in alliance with the Police Chief Peter J. McCrohan issued a request this week urging "all public spirited citizens" to cease and desist.

Meter-feeding—plugging the meter with another coin when time has run out—is illegal. It is practiced by those who work in town and who want to park all day long at their offices as possible, and also by store owners who want to keep their delivery trucks parked for a quick rest-away when delivery time comes around. The Chamber will approach meter-feeders privately to ask their support, and will also support Borough police in a strict enforcement program. Alan G. Frank and Albridge C. Smith, 34 are Chamber co-chairmen for parking and zoning.

Drive, hit a utility pole on Route 206 Monday evening, after, she told police, she had overruled the right to avoid hitting a large dog. The accident occurred near the intersection of Hillside Avenue. Mrs. Gordon was treated by Dr. David B. Miller of the Princeton Hospital. For contusions and lacerations and released. Her husband, Henry W. Gordon, a passenger in the automobile, was admitted to Princeton Hospital with a possible concussion, fractured nose, and contusions and abrasions of the face and head. Trooper Popovich of the Princeton State Police barracks investigated.

TEENAGER IS FINED

For Siphoning Gas, John Leard, 17, 36 Moore Street, was fined a total of $70 and had his license revoked six months by Borough Magistrate Theodore T. Tams, Jr. Monday for tampering with motor vehicles.

Specifically, Leard pleaded guilty to two charges of siphoning gasoline from parked cars. The second offense carried a mandatory fine of $30.

Joseph Csoke, 25, 472 Kingston Road, was fined $25 and had his license revoked 90 days for careless driving. He pleaded not guilty.

Person To Person

We made some notes from a speech by a member of the 101st and thought we'd pass on to you that advice on how to go out.

Cory S. Kammiller of the path of a tornado, just in case you ever find yourself in the vicinity of one. He says that although they are more frequent in some parts of the country than others they can occur anywhere. The whirling wind within the funnel is so violent that the motion is too fast to be measured, but the funnel moves along at from 20 to 40 miles an hour. They can be so strong that their impact will lift and destroy otherwise permanent buildings; they can pick up you and your car and fling it the way a child can toss a toy. They usually travel in a straight line, so the way to avoid one is to make sure about the direction it is following. Then a travel at right angles away from its path. You know, there are ways to avoid just about every known danger if you will follow the rules dictated by experience. To be safe in the purchase of a car the rule is to depend only on specialists whose established integrity is proof that they place a higher value on their reputation than on a few fast dollars. May we serve you, Kammiller Buick-Pontiac Co. Route 206, opposite Princeton Airport, WA 1-2222.

Other Princeton Junction residents re-elected as officers of the club include George Krebs, vice-president; Robert Bell, second vice-president; Mrs. John Cotter, recording secretary; Francis Ward director; John Green was elected treasurer.

MEETING PLANNED

By Music Club. The Princeton Music Club will meet next Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. in the home of McKim Norton, 87 Lafayette Road.

Eleanor Holly will serve as assistant hostess. On the program will be Barbara Hibish, Kay Stroup, Joseph Kovacs, Joan Lucette, Ruth Plum, John Sessiano and Louise Strinsky. —Continued on Page 15

SILK BY THE SET

The Jersey Coast. We're speaking, not geographically about a languorous winter holiday in Beach Haven, but about the prevalence of jersey in the resort clothes we've seen this winter. Ann Stanley, in the Princeton Shopping Center (west side of Mall) likes the jersey bathing suit, and takes you for a swim in a white one printed with royal, turquoise and powder starfish. The skirt is permanently pleated, marked off from the bodice with a decorative little tie sash.

Far from decorous is a two-piece bathing suit consisting of bra and brief, both carved from a bit of sun yellow and while cotton print. You can buy a gathered skirt to wear over the briefs. Another bathing suit, this one by Rose Marie Reid, is a forest of blues and greens with a deep U-neck and an elasticized waist.

Out and dry, we find a sassy cotton shift with a short-cut tail to the hemline. It's lime yellow textured cotton lined with coral, or tunic-and-brown print, also lined with coral. A white linen dress has one-shoulder, red, green and blue stripes laid tight together to make one three-inch striped skirt that goes up the entire left side of the dress and across the bodice neck. Devastating. Another white dress is pure white silk in an oyster shade, really, with cuts at the seventh sleeves and a neck and collar copied from a man's knit golf shirt. A shoestring tie holds in the waist.

The flaming orange, yellow and lime laces of the tropics flaunt themselves on the Anna Stanley racks these days, and aren't they a pleasure to see in a grey day? One is an orange silk shift with a round neck and no adornment whatsoever except the theater-styled cotton slacks for Bermuda are colors of pastel grays—tongue yellow, apricot and jade. Ann Stanley shows them with an apricot blouse, right off the tree.

For a change, look at a white silk printed with big, black leaves. The dress has a short skirt, two little waistline bows, and a modified bow neckline. It comes again in a print that makes it look like an entirely different dress, a chaste Liberty-style floral, mostly in pink flowers, although blue is there, too, if you wish.

A brick linen dress has the blowing petals of a poppy in the print of its overskirt. The skirt's brick red serves double duty as piping for the blouse.

Parking Space, vs. a Library.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Your article of January 10 on the site for the new public library contains the following statement: "The trustees do not really know how much of the Wiggins-Witherspoon parking lot the new building would occupy. This depends, in part, on how many spaces could be blocked out on the Lahiere-Kane plot, which is about 20,000 square feet, so that the community would not lose parking places."

Great heavens! Is someone seriously suggesting that a lot of land devoted to parking a car is of as much value to the people of this community as a lot of land devoted to a public library?

This appears to me to be an appalling basis for determining even "in part" the size of one of the most important buildings in town, which ought to depend on what the library's staff and trustees feel is required and on the maximum resources that the community can muster for such a vital project.

If the drivers of Princeton I am one who has cruised around the center of town offering to look for a place (to park) were to lose to a new library the parking space represented by the Wiggins-Witherspoon lot, we could still count ourselves immeasurably the gainers.

JEAN MACLACHLAN
22 South Stanworth Drive

Editor's Note: The entire community is delighted that progress on a new library is such that a site has now been selected. Nonetheless, in modern-day America—and Princeton—the note that off-street parking places in the economy of a community is sufficiently true that when a superior use for the land is found, steps must immediately be taken to replace the number of spaces lost.

Vexing Traffic Conditions.
To the Editor of Town Topics: I understand that Princeton has been turned down in its request for a traffic light at the intersection of Franklin and Harrison. This is positive, by disagreement.

The other evening at 5:30, it took me exactly 6 minutes before I got the opportunity to cross over Harrison Street. May I suggest that this time he brought up again with the proper authorities, and perhaps pressed a little more forcefully this time?

Also, to make things even more ridiculous, there are stop signs now at the four corners of Jefferson and Valley Road. The other day, four cars came to the intersection at the same time, and came to a full stop. I politely signaled to the driver on Jefferson Road it was on Valley Road to go first, and he smiled & d.s.ignaled back for me to go first, and a truck driver facing me, gestured to the fourth driver to go first. With the result that the four of us started off at the same time and just narrowly averted what would have been a beautiful four-car collision.

Are we going to have to wait a few years for two of the stop signs to be removed? RUTH GILWOOD

Sewer Ordinance Condemned.

To the Editor of Town Topics: On December 29 an ordinance was passed for an elaborate sewerage system in the northern, sparsely-populated section of Princeton Township. Admittedly, almost no engineering data were available. Admittedly, only a small number of householders in one congested spot would be benefited. Admittedly, major costs.

would be defrayed by the large properties which neither wish nor have need for this alleged "improvement." Nevertheless, the ordinance was passed, Mr. Hobbay, at one, had the good sense to vote "No."

I hope that the Township Committee does not interpret the orderliness of the audience as giving tacit approval. Nothing could be more erroneous.

It was rather that most people present were amazed that an ordinance could be considered with a minimum of engineering data and with no information as to what costs property holders along the route would have to bear.

I also hope that the Township will reconsider this hasty and ill-advised move. Will the Committee consider the capacity of the present disposal plant to accommodate this addition?

Will the Committee consider the horror of a forced, pumped sewerage system when the electric power lines are down — as they sometimes are in rural areas? Will the Committee consider the harassment and damages to property owners resulting from the blasting through the dense rock of Autumn Hill, when this area could easily be bypassed?

Will the Committee consider the inevitable pressure for housing subdivisions (which will then begin to pay the costs of schooling) which this alleged "improvement" will stimulate? Will the Committee think, act and vote like responsible adults?

Finally, I hope that all responsible Township citizens will voice their disapproval of an ordinance which adversely affects the entire community.

Was Princeton "Woopom?"
An 83-year-old resident of Lawrenceville with a very personal sense of area history wants to give Princeton back to the community—but in name only. Luccomb Beaumont Reed of 1553 Lawrenceville Road says the community should be re-named Princeton. He merely wishes to authenticate the origins of the community for the education of its inhabitants and those of the surrounding area.

Mr. Reed, who has been interested in the Indian tradition of the area since his boyhood days on a Penns Neck Farm, recalls seeing the name "Woopom" referred to as the original appellation of the community. "I'm sure I saw the name somewhere about five years ago," he stated, "but I don't remember exactly where."

Founded in 1696 as Stony Brook, the settlement was known as Princeton for a brief period during the early part of the 18th century before it was officially given its present name. Mr. Reed firmly believes the history of the name is missing its earliest link and hopes that by publicizing the dilemma it might be solved.

The octogenarian, who has the vitality and energy of a man half his age, traces his connection with the Princeton Indian ancestry back to the 1890's when he helped cultivate corn and potatoes on his father's farm, Luccomb Blackwell Reed, a veteran of the Civil War, rented what is now known as the Mount Apple Farm in Penns Neck from the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company of Philadelphia.

While cultivating crops on the land, young Reed, unearthed a treasure of Indian artifacts. "I recognized them immediately as being Indian relics," he said, "as any other boy of my time would have."

A Natural Association.
"When I saw the name Woopom several years ago, I naturally associated it with the relics," continued Mr. Reed. "I believe this is the name of the tribe to whom the objects belonged."

His collection of artifacts, which consists of 78 articles, includes 62 arrowheads of eight different varieties, eight tomahawk heads, three pestles and two farming staves. The objects are enclosed in a glass case which bears the inscription "Relics Found 1/2 Mile West of Penns Neck Between U. S. 1 and the Delaware-Raritan Canal About Opposite the Princeton Pump Station."

An amateur historian in the true sense of the word, Mr. Reed is able to describe at length the uses to which the relics were put. He done a little reading on the subject," he said. "But I've gained most of my knowledge by just talking with others."

With a note of admiration in his voice, he describes the primitively skilled craftsman employed by the Red Man to mold and sharpen his hunting utensils. "Since flint is a pretty soft material, the Indian couldn't hammer the arrowheads into the shape he wanted. So what he did was to pick out the shape of the stone, heat it up real hot in a fire and then slick the flint into cold water. The extra stuff would flake off and there you had it."

According to Mr. Reed, several of his arrowheads "are even smaller than any owned by the state." One of his pestles, an instrument used to grind corn, he claims to be larger than any belonging to the state.

Mr. Reed, who last year moved into his present residence, a ranch-style house where he lives with his wife, the former Margaret Hall, seems to have a countless stock of memories embellished by many family and historical pictures. Among the articles which decorate his cellar are a stone used by his mother before the Civil War, a grape shot ball from the battle of Bull Run and assorted pictures of his former homes and his father in military dress.

A former clerk in charge of mail on the route between Pittsburgh and New York, he served the Railway Mail Service between 1903 and 1937. He charges President Grover Cleveland's free-trade policies with driving him off the farm at the turn of the century. "My father's dairy business collapsed because everybody was out of work and no one had any money to buy our products."

A Patriot More Than Ever.
The historian and collector, who will celebrate his 86th birthday in May, is still an active man. His great desire is to create a permanent memorial to the traditions of the region.

"How can young people appreciate our history if they can't see what we've got?" he asked. In an effort to achieve this end, he has proposed that Mercer County construct a building in Princeton which would house objects and documents dealing with the history of the area.

To be called the General Mercer Historical Society of Mercer County, the building would be placed in Battletield Park on Mercer Road. Mr.

Reed added that the society could be made self-supporting by having the patriotic organizations of the area provide the funds in the form of rental fees paid for group meetings. "If they build it and make it fireproof," he said, "I'll donate everything I've got." One of the unique mementos he possesses is a United States flag which served as a political banner in the presidential election of 1864. The flag, which contains 35 stars and measures 12 by 18 feet, was stretched across what is now U. S. 1 in Penns Neck in Abraham Lincoln's campaign for re-election.

Mr. Reed was given the banner by the Penns Neck Community Club, an organization he served as president and financial secretary. "I'll be glad to donate it if the society is built," he said. "But it's a priceless object to me. So they'll have to make that building fireproof."

"NO TEST, NO LICENSE" smacks of Big Brother on the highways, in the opinion of Robert Smyth (left) and Richard Provenzano, who deny the suggestion that the state is allowed to suspend the license of a driver who refuses to take a drunkometer test. (Staff Photo)

Question of the Week

Question: Do you think the state should be allowed to suspend the license of any driver who refuses to take a drunkometer test?

Where asked: Nassau Street.

Robert Smyth, 321 Nassau Street, Rutgers University sophomore: Absolutely not. In the first place, just because you don't take the test, that is not an admission of guilt. If you refuse to take a lie detector test you are not judged guilty. It is not held against you. I think there are definite parallels here. One other minor point: it doesn't seem right that a person could be judged whether he is guilty or not by a machine. The machine definitely could be faulty. To me, the whole thing is a farce because people don't have to take the test if they don't want to. Seems to me the only reason why anyone would take it is because he would feel it is an admission of guilt if he didn't take the test. I think it is wrong for a person to be made to feel obligated to take the test. A person is innocent until he's proven guilty.

Richard Provenzano, 42 Carnegie Place, musician: No, I don't think if a person refuses to take the test it should be considered an admission of guilt. It seems to me like they are invading a person's rights. They just shouldn't be allowed to take your license like that. If you were with a date, naturally you would say no. It could be embarrassing!

Orrville T. Spessard, 100 Jefferson Street, professor, Princeton University Press: I sure do, very strongly. If he is drunk, he shouldn't be driving or else he should be willing to prove he isn't drunk. There are too many drunk drivers on the road today. I've followed behind these guys and I've seen them weave from side to side.

Miss Wilma Wilder, Trenton, clerk-typist for Woodrow Wilson School: Yes, I do feel they should be able to take a person's license even if that person feels his rights are being violated. I feel this way mainly because if a person does not willingly agree to take the test, this label him in guilty, more or less, in the first place. Knowing it takes a certain period of alcohol to prove that a person is drunk or that a person who has taken a small amount of alcohol should still be willing to take the test. Perhaps it is being a bit harsh but I think the law should not be as lenient as some people believe. I think the law should take it for granted. Therefore, if we are going to make it a law, I think it should be strictly enforced.

Robert E. Ross, 218-C Marshall Street, graduate student, chemistry I: I resent that they should be an invasion of rights.

but I resent even more a drunken driver. He is invading the right of every other driver to expect that everyone else is going to drive with caution and care, which I believe they have a right to expect. Therefore, I feel it is wrong for anyone to resent this device of the police to prove he's not drunk. Just as one requires a test to prove that he has the ability to drive, the appointed authorities ought to have the right to give a test on the spot to show that one is able to drive at that time.

Durwood Davis, Trenton, photographer for Bureau for Advanced Housing, Route 206: To me that would depend somewhat on how reliable a drunkometer test is. However, I think by refusing to take the test, a person is admitting he is unfit to drive. I think any invasion of privacy claim is just an excuse not to take it. It's a good one and some people take advantage of it. It's the same as saying, "I stand on the fifth," which, I feel, is absurd.

Mrs. Rubin Bronstein, 173 Hickory Court, housewife: Yes, I think so. If they weren't concerned about the fact that they had drunk too much, they wouldn't be concerned about taking the test. If drivers are going to drink and not be concerned about how they are endangering other lives, then I think they should be forced to comply to make them feel concerned.

George Keymer, 30 Vandeventer, funeral director: Yes, I think they should suspend his license right away until proven otherwise. I think anyone who says his rights are being violated is carrying the idea of rights too far.

Alexander Liebowitz, 41 Vandeventer, graduate student, history: Yes, it seems to me that driving while drinking is a serious offense, is quite irresponsible, and endangers the lives of others to such an extent that such a thing as a drunkometer test should be required. Personally, I am a very strong defender of individual rights and I would fight any attempt to invade them but this is in my opinion a good touch on the liberties of individuals.

Alfred Sassman, 327 Ewing Street, salesman: I think so. In my mind, if he feels he shouldn't take it, it is because

HAS THE BUBBLE BURST?

Were the Tigers Over-rated? If the Ivy League basketball season is not to degenerate into a two-team affair between Yale and Penn before the end of January, Princeton's faltering quintet will have to win a pair of road games against Columbia and Cornell this weekend.

Provided they accomplish that, the Tigers must then complete the tough assignments of defeating favored Penn in Dillon Gym on February 2 and defending champion Yale at New Haven a week later. Off the back-to-back performances against Yale and Brown here last weekend, that may be more than the hot-and-cold Tigers can handle.

For three successive halves—the entire game against Yale and the first period against Brown—Princeton was guilty of far more mistakes than a title contender can afford. Inexplicably, the Tigers threw the ball away repeatedly; failed to snare vital rebounds; stayed cold in field goal shooting; and committed almost constant defensive errors which shook opposing players loose for unhindered layups.

Eventually, after the costly 62-61 upset at the hands of the Elis, and after trailing last-place Brown, 26-17, at the 11-minute mark of the first half, Princeton regained its touch. It did so, however, only at the expense of an undermanned Bruin quintet which has managed to win just four of 11 games and figures to finish well down in second division.

Proof Needed. Staging a comeback on a road trip is a difficult task for a basketball team, but if Princeton is to win, it must provide the answer to these questions raised by its play last week:

• Can the team play fast-break and bounce-pass basketball without constantly losing possession?

• Will the outside shooting, which contributed so much to a fine 48% floor average through December, recover

GOOD PERFORMANCE REWARDED: Bill Howard (40) came off the bench to give Tigers' 12 points in Friday's loss to Yale. Next night, the 6-4 resident of Princeton, Ill., had a starting assignment against Brown. (Tom Miner Photo)

Will the Tigers' greatest asset this weekend will be its home-court advantage.

• Is there enough balance so that at least one player can supplement Bradley's unstoppable 26.3 average with a performance we'll up in double figures? As much as anything else, it was the fact that Harlow and Hyland were limited to a total of 12 points between them that cost the victory against Yale.

Cornell's Disappointment. A Cornell quintet which has numerous hoidovers from its fourth-place entry last winter, and which was credited by Coach Sam MacNeil with being a strong title contender this season, will make a last-ditch stand this weekend at Ithaca. No better than 4-7 to date, and victim of a major upset at Cambridge Saturday, the Red will be completely out of the race if it loses to invading Penn and Princeton.

Like Penn, Cornell lacks a player who can hit for 20 points more than a couple of times a season, but unlike the Quakers, it is short of adequate balance. Six-seven Jerry Krumbein provides the height, and Captain Jerry Sachara spearheads the attack with a 16-point average but

A sleet storm added to the Ithacans' problems last weekend, preventing them from traveling over Ivy roads to Hanover for a game Friday. They were a surprising 59-42 loser to an unimpressive Harvard quintet at Cambridge Saturday before heading north to play Dartmouth, to which they lost, 71-66, in overtime Sunday afternoon.

Columbia's young quintet is the eye-opener of the race to date, winning against both Harvard and Dartmouth away from home last weekend to raise its overall mark to 8-4. Captain Jim Clemen, 6-7 Jim Brogan and sophomore Neil Farber are the principal threats for the Lions, who may not finish out of second division but can be tough to beat at home.

TROUBLE IN PARADISE

As Tigers Lose at Home, A basketball team with a 7-3 record taking its own floor at full strength is unlikely to be beaten by an opponent with a 3-6 mark which has just lost its best player because of a broken hand. Yale, without Rick Kaminsky, whose 19.1 average this season may be available to the Elis by the time the two teams meet again next month. Accordingly, it took quite some doing on Princeton's part to leave the floor Friday a one-point loser to Yale. The Elis earned a good portion of the victory through sheer determination, the courage to overcome a seven-point half-time deficit and the tenacity to make their lead stick in the final hectic 90 seconds. But only Princeton's constant errors made the outcome possible.

In the final minute and a half, the Tigers almost pulled it out, coming within a final desperate shot of erasing a 60-53 deficit when they outscored the Elis, 8 to 2. With two seconds left, Hyland threw the ball in to Don Roth, who passed to Bradley, but the hurried push shot from 20 feet out was off the basket to the left and the buzzer sounded.
Sharp in contrast to the losers' routine 37½ shooting on their own floor was a 48½ performance by Yale, which came up with a sizzling second half percentage of 68½. In addition to Bradley, who made 21 of 24 despite a mediocre 5-for-15 field goal average, only reserves Dick Johnston and Bill Howard with 12 apiece played good basketball against the underdog Bulldogs.

It took Princeton 23 minutes to break away from Brown, a rally toward the end of the first half replacing the 26-17 deficit with a 33-32 lead, and the surge noon after play resumed then sending the Tigers steadily away from a 37-all deadlock. Art Hyland regained his form with 20 points in the final half, converting many assists from Bradley for pop shots at the Brown defense collapsed on the Tigers' final onslaught. It was an 81-67 final.

Bradley finished with 34; no other Princetonian had more than six. For the first time this season, Coach Bill Van Breda Kolff switched his starting lineup, giving junior Bill Howard the nod over sophomore Don Niemann. With Dick Johnston playing steadily after an early-season injury and a potential high scorer in sophomore Chuck Berling expected to gain eligibility in February, more changes may occur in the near future.

SKATERS FACE CORNELL
Saturday in Baker Rink, A Princeton hockey team which is still seeking its first intercollegiate victory since December 18 will face a well-balanced Cornell sextet Saturday at 2 in Baker Rink. The Tigers have lost their last three games against collegiate opposition by one goal, two of the decisions coming in overtime.

Once the doormat of the Ivy League when the sport was resurrected at Ithaca six years ago, Cornell now ranks second only to Harvard. The Ithacans were runners-up in the standings a year ago, and have most of their key players on hand again. In Ivy action to date, they have topped Yale, S-C, and Dartmouth, 3-4, but were trounced by defending champion Harvard, 9 to 1.

In Captain Laing Kennedy, a 15½-lb. resident of Oxford Centre, Ontario, the Ithacans have a standout goalie who won all-Ivy honors last winter. The Red defense is not impenetrable, but La Kennedy's garrier in the work Army had defeated the Orange and Black at West Point, also by a 3-2 margin. It was the first game of the season in which Johnny Cook had been blanked.

Freshmen to Play. Princeton's well-regarded freshman team, 4-1 on the season, will meet Cornell '68 Saturday at 4:30, following the varsity game.

Catch Pete Cook's team defeated Hope High School of Rhode Island, 12-4, last week, and then came from behind at West Point to trim the Army Pileups, 3 to 2. Billy Lea, who lives on the Princeton Line Road, scored once for the victors, and Steve Cook, son of the coach, produced the winning goal.

the midst of an extended, seven-game road trip, is in full agreement.

"These kids can't wait to get home," said PHS coach Tony Borzok. "When they do, they're going to tear this place apart. They want to show what they can do in front of the home town fans."

Not that the Little Tigers haven't performed in adequate fashion on the road. Since its home opener against Hightstown December 14, PHS has won its first five contests. Brushing aside the unfortunate scheduling that will keep the team off its home court until January 23, almost six weeks, as "just one of these things," Borzok added that his players have been able to adapt themselves to playing on a strange court each week. "They seem to thrive on it," he said.

The Little Tigers sixth consecutive road contest will be held Friday evening against a new opponent, Bridgewater-Raritan. They will end their Odyssey Tuesday afternoon against Somerville High School. (For a report on this week's game with Stierert High School, see page 26.)

Schmidt Leading Scorer. Through the first five outings, Captain Hank Schmidt has emerged as the team's top scorer with 64 points. He replaced Larry Madden who had led until he was held scoreless at Hightstown. Larry has hit for 35 points.

The three remaining starters are bunched closely together. Jimmy Case has averaged an average seven points per game, scoring 35, while John Kowalski and Dave Hill have made 32 and 31 respectively. Collectively, these five have accounted for all but 15 of the points

PHS scored in its first five encounters. Tom Waters appears to be on the way to becoming the team's sixth man. The tallest member of the squad at 6-3, Tom has scored 10 points, nine of them coming in the last two contests. Brad Manti and Pete Webber have scored five points between them, in limited play. To compensate for a lack of height and lack of experience, PHS has stressed defense this campaign. As a measure of their success, the Little Tigers have limited their opponents to a scant 34.8 points per game while averaging 40.5 themselves.

ETS UPSETS RCA

To Advance In YMCA League. Educational Testing Service upset RCA Labs, 59-49, last week in the YMCA Research and Industrial Basketball to move into sole possession of second place, one game behind undefeated Sannino A.C.

A 74-39 decision over RCA Astro enabled Sannino to make it six out of six and maintain its hold on first place. After losing two in a row, the Post Office won its second straight, defeating winless Princeton Hospital, 53-16. Food Machinery and Chemical fell before McGraw Hill, 65-34, which upped its record to 3-1.

The big man in the ETS victory was Clarence Gilbert who scored 29 points. Joe Burns paced the Insers with 19. Ahead by only three at the half, Sannino, which had been averaging more than 100 points per game, finally got untracked in the second half when it poured in 41 points. Carl Belz' 28-point effort led the Sannino surge while John Fields' 15 points accounted for the Insers' first-half score.

Vince Mazzella and Charles Streeter combined for 26 points to turn back the luck-

SANNINO IS STOPPED

By Asbury Recreation Five. Princeton's Sannino's A.C. and the Asbury Park Recreation Club, both undefeated in nine contests met Thursday evening at the Princeton High School gymnasium. Sannino was defeated by the shore quintet, 84-75.

The game was a hard fought duel throughout, with the visitors holding a two-point lead at the end of the first period. Midway in the next quarter, the greater height of Asbury began to take effect as 6-7 Jim Satterwhite, a member on the starting five of the Sunbury team in the Eastern Basketball League, commanded the backboards and hit for ten points.

Satterwhite was aided by Walt Mischler, 6-5 former all-American, who made 12 points in the final period, and by some inept foul shooting by Sannino, particularly in the pivotal second period when it missed on 13 free throws. The

...is first in the research and production of chemicals!

Talk chemicals, and you must say "New Jersey", for in our State we produce a greater value of chemical products than any other state in America. The annual sales value is over $3 billion a year or one-tenth of the national total. Over $1 billion has been spent in the last ten years for new plants and research facilities. We have more than 1100 chemical plants and laboratories employing 81,000 people with a total annual payroll of $500 million. Forty-six of the nation's fifty-three largest chemical companies have operations here.

The chemical industry likes New Jersey because our State has a highly skilled labor force, deep-water ports, fine transportation facilities, a good educational system, is near to raw materials and is in the heart of the world's richest market.

Dave Smoeyer of 86 Olden Lane has been named goalie on the 1962 All-American soccer team. A senior at Dartmouth, he earned the position in both of the last two seasons on the mythical All-key team.

A three-letterman at Dartmouth, Dave was play- for the Indians' football team, which he captained, against Cornell when the luncheon honoring the All-American team was held in New York. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley C. Smoey- er, attended the affair to ac- cept the certificate for him.

Dan Sclerati, player coach for Samnies, announced that the team will next meet the Orange Triangles from Orange, a member of the strong New Jersey Independent Basket- ball League. The game will be held Thursday evening at 8:30 at the Princeton High School gymnasium. There will be no admission charge.

PRETTY BROOK IS SITE OF SQUASH TOURNAMENT. The 1963 New Jersey State Women's Squash Racquets Championship will be held here at the Pretty Brook Tennis Club. Mrs. Hallett Johnson, Jr. and Mrs. John W. Claphorn, Jr., co-chairman, have announced that the tourna- ment will start Wednesday and continue through Satur- day.

Last year's winner, Miss Margaret Varner of Wilmington, Del., is expected to defend her title against several Princeton players as well as these from the surrounding area. Competing this year will be eight British players who have arrived from England on the Wolfe-Noel Cup Team which will play the U.S. Team in the bi-annual British-U.S. match to be held February 16 at the Philadelphia Country Club.

Also competing for the first time in four years will be Mrs. W. Pepper Constable of Rosedale Road, a five-time national champion who is a member of the U.S. Wolfe-Noel team. Al- though Mrs. Constable retired from active tournament com- petition four years ago, she has continued playing on the New York Wolfe Cup team and is preparing for the Wolfe-Noel matches. president of the U.S. Women's Squash Racquets Association, is also entering the tourna- ment.

All players have been in- vited to a luncheon to be held Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Johnson. Mrs. Sanders Maxwell is hospitality chair- man and Mrs. Constable, chair- man of hospitality for the vis- iting British players. Mrs. Stanley Smoeyer will be the tournament referee while Mrs. Hector Griswold will be in charge of the luncheon. Pub- licity is being handled by Mrs. James K. Delano and Mrs. Aubrey Huston, Jr.

Howe Cup Matches Held. The Howe Cup Squash Ra- cquets Matches were held at New Haven January 4 and 5. Two teams of five players each from Philadelphia, Boston, New York and Wilmington competed.

Princeton players who were members of the New York team include Mrs. Constable, Mrs. David Frothingham, Mrs. Lu- cas Wilmington, Mrs. Martin Katz and Mrs. Claphorn. Mrs. Bayard Stockton was to have played but had to default.

SWIMMERS UNBEATEN. Larries Tronace Yale '66. Led by Phil Riker's record- breaking performance, the Lawrenceville School swim- ming team remained unbeaten in four meets with an impres- sive 61-34 victory over the Yale University freshmen at Lavino Field House pool on Saturday.

Riker lowered his own na- tional prep school mark in the 100-yard butterfly to 53.4 sec- onds and added another first in the 400-yard freestyle. It was the third time this year that he improved upon the record in the butterfly event. He also has set a record in the 200-yard freestyle.

Captain Russ Kingery aided the Larrie triumph with a pair of victories in the 200-yard individual medley and the 100- yard backstroke. A prep school all-American last year, he swam the first event in 2:07.4 and the second in 57.6 seconds.

Other outstanding perform- ances for Lawrenceville were turned in by Tom Paxton with 108.25 points in diving and Peter Warthon with a victory in the 50-yard freestyle and an unofficial school mark of 22.4 seconds in his leg of the win- ning 200-yard freestyle relay.

Handling Yale's freshmen their first loss of the season, Lawrenceville opposed the Princeton University freshmen on Wednesday and will meet Mercersburg Academy on Sat- urday.

Quinlet Wins Thriller. Mark Haley collected more than half the Larries' points Saturday as he led the basketball team to a 37-56 defeat of Bordentown Military Institute. It was the fourth victory for the Red and Black and the first loss for the visitors.

Haley, a senior, scored 17 of his 30 points in the second half and helped hold off a last- quarter rally by Bordentown. Dan DiPace led the visitors' attack with 21 points, 12 com- ing in the second half.

BUSINESS In Princeton

PRESIDENT NAMED

At First National Bank, Ralph H. Mather, former national bank examiner and former resident of Princeton, has been named 30th president of the National Bank as president, succeeding John P. Fox, who announced his resignation on January 3.

A native of Princeton, Mr. Mather was graduated from Princeton in 1921, and Rutgers University, beginning his banking career with the latter institution at First National shortly after his graduation from college.

For the past 22 years, Mr. Mather has been a national bank examiner with the office of the Comptroller of the Currency, U.S. Treasury Department, assigned to New York, New Jersey and Delaware.

Mr. Mather and his wife now live in Berwyn, Pa., but they will move to Princeton as soon as they can sell their Berwyn home and buy one here, Mr. Mather said.

The new First National president recalled this week that he had met bank officials on quite another level not too long ago.

"I was the bank examiner assigned to look over the new Princeton branch building, when it was still a garage," he said with a smile. "I didn't appreciate it at the time, but the Comptroller of the Currency does that, but I did make my acquaintance with it."

A golfer, Mr. Mather has found little time for his hobby since he has taken on his new job. He has, however, been involved in a bank examiner's life. He hopes to find more time in the future.

"I regard it as a great challenge to follow Mr. Fox," he said. "It is a big job, and I am eager to grow with it and with the community."

SYNDICATE FORMED

To Build Bait Building. A syndicate formed by Edmund C. Rogers, Jr., of Rogers, 190 Nassau, has purchased the bait building building.

The syndicate, to be known as the Bait Corporation, will retain the bait building as a managing agent, and will continue to operate the bait building as a restaurant, accepting one of several applications now on file to continue the restaurant operation.

Nassau Pharmacy will continue to operate the bait building. It is the long-term lease. Collins, Uhl and Housington, Architects, will prepare alteration plans, which call for modernization of the second floor offices and third-floor quarters. The present tenants will remain.

The space around the corner at 1214 Witherspoon will also be remodeled for present and prospective tenants.

MRS. STOUT RETIRES

Miss Whitteman named Mrs. Lilian V. S. Stout, assistant president of Princeton Bank and Trust Company, will retire on Wednesday after 42 years of service. Miss Grace V. Whitteman, assistant secretary-treasurer, will succeed her as president of the bank's second office.

At a testimonial dinner last night at the Princeton Inn, Mrs. Stout was given an engraved book containing a solicitation for a ring by 30 officers and directors present. It was announced that Mrs. Stout will continue to serve as a consultant.

One of the first women to make a career of banking, Mrs. Stout became a specialist in customer relations, and she has helped hundreds of depositors in the understanding traditionally associated with a family counselor.

Born in 1900, her career began in 1918 at the old Princeton Bank, New York City. She joined Princeton Bank in 1920 and ten years later became assistant treasurer—one of the first women in the country to become a bank officer. She is a member of the American Institute of Banking, the New Jersey Bankers Association, the National Association of Bank Women, treasurer of the Princeton Chapter of the English Speaking Union, a member of the finance committee of the Present Day Club, and a member of the DAR and Knickerbocker Presbyterian Church. Miss Whitteman joined the staff 36 years ago and has been an officer for 20 years. A specialist in customer relations, she is a graduate of the New Jersey Bankers Association, School of Public Relations and the American Institute of Banking.

PROMOTIONS ANNOUNCED

By Bank and Trust. The board of directors of Princeton Bank and Trust Company has announced the promotion of nine officers as of the first of January.

They are Harold E. Zarker, from vice-president to senior vice-president in charge of the banking and trust department; Raymond C. Taylor, from assistant vice-president to senior vice-president in charge of the banking and trust department; Joseph F. Catelli, from treasurer and controller to vice-president and treasurer.

Also, Roscoe V. Roos, from assistant controller to controller; George J. Adriane, from assistant vice-president to vice-president in charge of business development; W. Comfort, from assistant treasurer to assistant vice-president in charge of business development; Malcolm G. Magner, from assistant treasurer to assistant vice-president in charge of branch banking operations.

Also, Miss Grace V. Whitteman, from assistant secretary to assistant treasurer and as such, assistant secretary to the bank; and Margaret K. Wright, from assistant secretary to assistant treasurer and assistant secretary in charge of the loan department.

George R. Cook III, president of the bank, said that the decision of the board to award the promotions "is in keeping with its long established policy of promoting to the maximum responsibility from within the bank." He noted that all have served at least ten years and no more than 36.

TO OPEN "DELI"

In Lawrenceville. "Del 21," a delicatessen specializing in sandwiches and take-out orders, has opened at 21 Phillips Avenue, Lawrenceville, under the ownership of Donald West Craven Lane. Lawrenceville, N.J. West is affiliated with the Saks Fifth Avenue Shop in Princeton.

The premises at 21 Phillips Avenue have been occupied for many years by a butcher shop, and Mr. West plans to keep some of the old butcher-shop cases and equipment "for atmosphere."

He has christened his delicatessen "Del 21" not only because of its address, but because it will cost 21 cents. The shop will be open until 11 p.m. on week-end evenings.

ASSOCIATION REPORTS

On Savings & Loans. Net savings at the Princeton Savings and Loan Association increased by 7.2 percent to a total of $10,274,838.40, according to the annual report received by the association this week. The number of account holders increased by 1,000, from 2,500 in 1961 to more than 3,700 in 1962, the report said.

Some 3,700 individuals received $338,306.41 in dividends during 1962. Total dividends were about $317,000.

The Association's mortgage portfolio now amounts to $10,122, 074.30, an increase of 20 percent over 1961. The figure represents about 100 loans on residential properties in Princeton and environs.

Reserves and undivided profits show an increase of 15.1 percent and assets an increase of 12 percent, the report stated.

The 1963 dividend rate for Princeton Savings and Loan will be 4 percent and, for the first time, the rate on mortgage monies, 5.14 percent. In making his annual report, H. Franklin, president of the association, predicted a continuing high level of economy for the nation in 1963, basing his forecast on continuing low capital expenditures by business and industry, increased spending by federal, state and local governments and a high rate of consumer purchasing for both goods and services.

CONTRACT AWARDED

To Plumbing Firm. The Princeton consulting firm of V. F. Schoeller and Wirth has been awarded a contract of $30,000 by the Area Redevelopment Administration of the United States Department of Commerce.

The award is the first made to a New Jersey company by the Commerce Department since President Kennedy signed the Area Redevelopment Act into law on May 1, 1961. The consultants will conduct a study of industrial expansion and development opportunities in northeastern Connecticut.

In addition, the consultants will advise the private on arrangement financing for the construction of new factories and modernization of older plants. The partners in the firm are C. Dickey Dyer, III, senior partner, 222, Baldwin, 200, and John C. J. Wirth.

frames. Trailing behind them were Larry Golden, 150; Tenner, 148; Larry Soli, 147; Conrad Daniels, 136; Bill Keifer, 135; and Jim Nolf, 100.

Mike Basile won three games, moving into first place in the Individual Classic League with a 30-15 record, a game ahead of Joe Baidino who had headed the standings. Guido Zinetti, who had the high score of 604, was in third place, two games behind the leader and one in front of Frank Middalon.

Zinetti also rolled the top single game in the league, a 214, four pins better than the top effort of other players at 200 or better were registered by Ed Penella, 204 and 200; Busile, 202; Baldwin, 200; and Mike Zeccola, 200.

In the Industrial League, First National Bank swept three games to break a three-way tie for second place and moved to within two points of the league-leading Crescents. The leaders, without a tie, have a total of 58 points, six in front of the third-place Crescents. Elks and Eagles are ahead of Tiger Garage in the fourth position.

Bob King's 202 score marked the only game to surpass 200 pins for any one contest since the Val R. Rallo, 198; Dave Compton, 198; Rudy Hart, 193; Jerry Penella, 192; and Mike Holmes, 190.

Six teams began the second-half of the season in the Tri-County Firemen's League with three victories apiece. The first place, The leaders, each with eight points, were Mercer Number Three, Rocky

Giants-Eagles Here Again

For the second year in a row, a National Football League exhibition game will be played at Palmer Stadium when the New York Giants and Philadelphia Eagles meet here on Saturday, September 7.

The contest will be staged under the auspices of the state Junior Chamber of Commerce, with Princeton University again donating the use of the Stadium. Last year's game netted $150,000 for charitable organizations and projects selected by the Jaycees.

The Giant-Eagle rivalry is one of the most hotly-contested in the NFL. The Giants, Eastern Division champions in 1962, went on to take both regular-season games between the two after scoring a 27-10 victory here.

Bill Kingston, Princeton's state Junior Chamber president, said that the game will be held at Palmer and Hook and Lader.

Frank Stofko, with a 225 score, edged Harold Davall by two pins to capture single game honors. Quitt outstanding were bowled by George Luck and Carmen Panico, each with 110. Robert Battenhouse, 200; Bob Schaffer, 201; and George Willis and Bud Reading, each with 197.

Decker's Dairy swept three games in the Women's Industrial League to cut the points off the lead of Jefferson Plumbing. The leaders, with a 100-point lead, had a point ahead of third-place Mutual Benefit Life.

Ann Amalfitano had the high single game with a 191, one pin better than Helen Tamasco, 190. Following them were Sara Reese, 189; Lynn Burroughs, 170; and Marge Drummond, 161.

PHIS STREAK ENDED

Quintet Loses to Steinert. Trailing from the outset in this first straight contest away from home, Princeton High School's basketball team lost its first game of the season Tuesday when Steinert topped the Blue and White, 63 to 45. The Little Tigers had taken their first five starts.

Only Captain Hank Schmidt with a dozen points made it into double figures for the losers. It was 13-9 for Steinert in the first quarter and 27-22 at the half. The home team continued to move ahead when play was resumed, and in the final quarter doubled the PHIS output, 20 to 10. The junior varsity game also went to Steinert, 59 to 40.

HUN DEFEATED TWICE

In Quest for First Win. Failing to score more than 50 or more points in any of its games this season, the Hun basketball team was beaten twice last week, dropping a 62-47 contest to Germantown Friends' and a 70-49 decision to Pennington School last Wednesday.

Pen is currently 1-10 in its season.

New coach Bob Simpson and the Bed and Black will try to win a winning contest Tuesday evening when they travel to Solebury or a Penn-Jersey contest. The game will start at 7:30.

In Philadelphia Friday, the home team jumped off to an early lead and led throughout.

Sophomore guard Scott Page performed in the best offensive for yet this season as the 5-10 Trentonian scored 21 points. Alex Langel added four points to account for the bulk of the losers' points.

Earlier in the week, against visiting Pennington, Page again led Hun scorers with 18. Langel was the only other Hun player to hit double figures. He had 11. The outcome of the contest was never in doubt as Pennington raced to a commanding 37-21 margin at halftime.

HUN STOPS BRYN ATHYN

For First Victory. Hun School, three vain tries, Hun School succeeded on its fourth attempt to defeat Bryn Athyn in basketball Tuesday afternoon at the Princeton Theological Seminary gymnasium, 59-53. Hun rolled to its biggest score of the season on the closing of Scott Page and captains Alex Langel and Richard Patt who combined for 20 and eight of the Red Bank's points. For the third straight time, Page led all Hun scorers, this time connected for 18. Langel and Patt were close behind with 17 and 16.

The slightly taller Pennsylvania quintet, which suffered its fifth defeat in six games, battled Hun on even terms during the first half, but ended with the home team in front, 25-23. Superior rebounding, especially by Langel who pulled down 16, enabled Hun to widen its lead when play resumed.

News Of The CHURCHES

TRENDS IN THE CHURCH
(Last in a series of commentaries by three Princeton clergymen, Dean Ernest Goodrich of Princeton University Chapel, President James I. McCord, Princeton Theological Seminary, and the Rev. Kenneth S. Dannenhauer of Calvary Baptist Church, Princeton, president of the Princeton Pastors' Association during 1962.)

Everyday Christianity. "The main emphasis now is on the role of the laity," notes the Rev. Kenneth S. Dannenhauer of Calvary Baptist Church, Princeton, last year's president of the Princeton Pastors' Association.

Members of the congregations are in the midst of decision-making. Coming to church, ushering and putting $5 in the plate is no longer considered the full obligation of a Christian.

"There is a questioning of why we do the things we do. Is there something about church on Sunday morning? Or was this convenient at some time in the past and has become a vestigial interest? The fragmentation of the family has taken its toll. The whole question of fund-raising and social events is being re-evaluated."

"The ecumenical movement has had an effect upon the thinking of church-goers. What are we going to hang onto at all costs? What are we going to yield?"

"Right to the Roots." "There's a recognition of the theological basis for what the church is doing—as against the social and cultural influences of the times. The church goes right to the roots of what the churches are trying to do instead of saying that coming to church and working in church is enough, being a Christian in all relations—work, in school, clubs—this is where you testify to what you believe. A commuter, for instance, on the train, at lunch or at work makes his conviction known."

"The role of the laity" is a new phrase. Rooted in Bible study, it was promoted in 1959 in a report by the Princeton churches and then through mass communication. There's a Biblical-theological base to this point of view. It may possibly have come of the Second World War, when servicemen came home and wanted to know what it means to be a Christian."

"The reaction within the churches is again evidence of intellectual and financial growth. Yet there is some question as to whether the Christian faith penetrates basic society today. In the Cuban crisis here, people were panicky. A Christian doesn't panic. He realizes that this is God's world, and He loves this world and watches over it. To the Christian, there is always the possibility of negotiation with other people. He doesn't close doors—he opens doors. In the Cuban crisis, he is concerned that the people are care for, including the refugees, the sick, the unwanted."

"Point of View." "A Christian holds out for a point of view. In race relations, he believes that all people are created by God and are persons. "And a Christian reacts to news events, international tension, nuclear matters. Many Christians are not clear on this. . . . I guess there is more difference of opinion. Disarmament—this is one of the areas in which Christians should be more active in bringing pressure to bear."

"The role of the pastor is to help Christians make this witness."

PRAYER SERVICE SET
By Christian Faith. The traditional separation of Roman Catholic and Protestant church services will be broken for the first time in Princeton next Wednesday. A special prayer for Christian unity will be held at 8 p.m. in Whig Hall, Princeton University campus.

Rev. Kenneth S. Dannenhauer, president of the Princeton Pastors' Association and the Rev. Kenneth S. Dannenhauer, pastor of St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church.

The service will be conducted by Father Henry, Rev. Donald M. Meisel, president of the Pastors' Association, and the Rev. Kenneth S. Dannenhauer. An invitation to attend the service is extended by the Princeton clergy to their congregations.

The Roman Catholic Octave for Prayer for Christian Unity has been held in January for many years. The cycle of prayer for unity sponsored by the World Council of Churches has come in the same month. Wednesday's service will join the two traditions. Father Henry has announced that the Church Unity Octave will begin next Friday. Special prayers and services will be offered throughout the Roman Catholic Church for Eight days in petition to God for the unity of the Christian world. Octave prayers will be recited after the daily masses at 7 and 8:15 a.m.

All parishioners are urged by Father Henry to attend mass daily during the Octave and to participate in the prayer service in Whig Hall. The Octave of prayer will end on January 25, the Feast of the Conversion of St. Paul.

On Sunday, January 20, prayers for the unity of the Christian Church will be part of the services in many Princeton churches. Dr. Meisel said.

The following resolution was adopted by the Pastors' Association at its January 9 meeting:

"The Churches, stirred by the Holy Spirit, have come to a better understanding of the necessity of breaking down the barriers which separate us, and

"The movement for the reunion of Christendom must have firm expression at the level of the local congregations in our community, and

"Both the Roman Catholic Church and the World Council of Churches have long urged that prayers for the reunion of Christendom be offered in the month of January all over the world.

"Therefore, be it announced that the Christian people of this community be urged to join in a brief service of prayer for the unity of the Christian Church on Wednesday, January 23, 1963, and that this act of corporate prayer and witness be continued by congregational and individual prayer and work for the unity of Christendom."

HOUSING COVENANT SET
By Ethical Culture. A plan to support equal housing opportunities for all has been approved by the Ethical Culture Fellowship. The housing covenant is similar to that circulated by other religious groups in this area.

The covenant will be presented for signature to members and friends of the Fellowship. Names and addresses of signers will be taken to the Clearing House for Nondiscriminatory Referral maintained by the WYCA.

BULLETIN NOTES

Elizabeth James says:
WHERE OR WHERE ARE THE BUTTERNUT TREES?

On this attractive 10 acre estate, some of the trees are as old as the pre-revolutionary war. The property is a tremendous value, has a splendidly landscaped lawn, is nicely wooded, as well as a lovely 18-hole golf course. The estate is located near the Princeton and Philadelphia turnpike.

An excellent value for $35,000. Additional land available.

DEAR TRAVELEX

Forgive us if we sometimes lose our patience. But let's face it.

If you want to travel, there are only two ways to go:

- (1) FIRST CLASS, or
- (2) WITH CHILDREN

TRAVELER handles both — darn it. Bless the little darlings! There's so many of them wrestling around our home we can't count them.

But let's face up to realistic values. It is more fun running off to Europe, Greece, Japan, or Hawaii without 'em. So, let's go before it's too late.

Cordially,
Nancy
